January 10, 2022

Fueled by strong performance in New Jersey and Georgia

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Jan. 10, 2022 (GLOBE NEWSWIRE) -- Today, Clover Health (Nasdaq: CLOV) ("Clover"), a technology company committed to improving health equity for America's underserved seniors, announced Medicare Advantage (MA) membership growth of over 25% versus the beginning of 2021, outpacing the overall industry growth average of approximately 10% year-over-year. Clover began January 2022 already above its previously indicated 2022 average MA membership guidance of 82,000 lives.

"Our continued industry-beating growth is a testament to the value consumers find in our approach of providing high quality plans, at a low cost, on a wide and open network," said Andrew Toy, President of Clover Health. "We believe our dramatic growth in Georgia demonstrates how the model we honed in New Jersey is replicable in more states and look forward to further establishing Clover's MA presence in key markets this year."

Clover experienced membership growth in a number of service area counties for 2022 across Georgia, New Jersey, Pennsylvania and South Carolina. Clover's MA plans are available to eligible individuals in 209 counties across nine states.

This includes almost tripling membership in Georgia, where Clover's MA plans are available to eligible individuals in 146 of the state's 159 counties. Last year, Clover significantly increased the breadth and depth of its provider network throughout Georgia with the addition of dozens of hospitals, health systems and key provider partners across the region, aligning approximately 5,000 new primary care physicians (PCPs) and specialists with Clover's Medicare Advantage PPO network.

Clover offers highly affordable, benefit-rich health plans with low out-of-pocket costs designed to eliminate care barriers and encourage beneficiaries to engage with the healthcare system, and their PCP in particular.

Clover's PPO provider networks are broad and open, enabling our members to see any doctor participating in Medicare who is willing to accept them. Several thousand PCPs within Clover's coverage areas are using Clover's clinical support technology, the Clover Assistant, to elevate the care delivered to Clover's members. Equipping PCPs with patient information from across the healthcare system and clinical recommendations at the time of the visit empowers them to deliver data-driven, personalized care, to keep patients healthier.
